

By: Travel Today Staff

Friday, September 8, 2017

Excellence in Dining: Steak 48 in Chicago

Located in Chicago's River North neighborhood, Steak 48 dazzles and impresses diners with an impressive menu and service.

Travel Today recently had the opportunity to dine at the brand new Steak 48, and we were left speechless from the incredible meal. Our experience began at a fantastic table situated adjacent to the glass enclosed kitchen. Here, patrons are provided a sneak preview of the impressive culinary skill from the culinary team under Chef Marc Lupino.

The interiors of the 12,000+ sq ft restaurant are stunning. The decor and added music create a unique ambiance to make everyone feel comfortable.

When visiting, you must try the fresh seafood tower, and the superfood salad to start. For main entrees, we recommend steak farina, or inquiring about the day's specialties. Make sure to save room for desert, crispy banana split is incredible.

Overall, Steak 48 provides an incredible steakhouse experience for a new generation to appreciate. Steak 48 is owned by Jeffrey and Michael Mastro, their father, Dennis, and partner Scott Troilo.

"Much like a new home, we really see this restaurant as a perfect reflection of who we are today," said Jeffrey Mastro.

Bon Appétit!

For more information, visit Steak 48 at: <https://steak48.com/steakhouse-chicago-il/>

Travel Today Review: Best Steakhouse in Chicago, 2017

<http://traveltoday.tv/2017/09/08/steak-48-chicago-steakhouse/>